The Building Safety Group

CDM 2015 (1 day)

Principal Designer and Principal Contractor duties under the Construction (Design Management) Regulations

About this course

This one day course is designed for Company employees who will be expected to understand the role of Principal Designer or Principal Contractor on their own company's construction projects. It is not intended to enable delegates to act as Principal Designer or Principal Contractor in their own right.

The delegate should have a basic understanding of the new CDM Regulations, be able to read drawings and have general knowledge of the Construction Industry.

What you will learn

The aim of this course is to ensure that delegates are aware of the legal duties placed upon Principal Designers and Principal Contractors under the new CDM 2015 legislation.

After successfully completing the course, delegates will be capable of demonstrating a sound knowledge of:

- the statutory obligations placed on Clients, Principal Designers, Designers, Principal Contractors and Contractors
- the Principal Designers role as co-ordinator
- the risk assessment process and its relevance in the preparation of the Pre-Construction Phase Plan and the minimum health and safety requirements for construction sites
- The preparation and implementation of the Construction Phase Plan and the general requirements for all construction sites
- Preparation of the Health and Safety file.
